

IELTS Writing: Examples That Don't Sound Fake

Book 18 · Specific support without invented surveys

Stratum IELTS · stratumielts.com

Edition 2026 · Original content

Pain this book solves

You write According to a recent survey, 78% of people...

Examiners (and good teachers) read this as forced or invented.

What a good example does

- Shows who / where / what happens
- Links back to your paragraph idea
- Sounds realistic under exam conditions

You do not need famous names or fake percentages.

Example formulas

1. Scenario: For example, a university student who...
 2. Workplace: In many offices, employees who...
 3. City/society: This can be seen in large cities where...
 4. Contrast mini-case: By comparison, residents in smaller towns...
-

Bad vs good

Fake

According to UNESCO research in 2023, exactly 64.2% of teenagers improved grades with AI.

Better

For example, a student can use AI feedback to spot grammar errors, then rewrite the paragraph independently so the learning still happens.

Vague

This is important for society.

Better

This matters for working parents who need flexible study hours after their shifts.

Practice

Add one concrete example to each idea:

1. Remote work improves balance
2. Fast food harms health
3. Public transport reduces congestion
4. Homework creates inequality

Then run a full essay through <https://stratumielts.com>.

End of Book 18 · stratumielts.com